

NINETEEN HUNDRED SIXTY-NINE

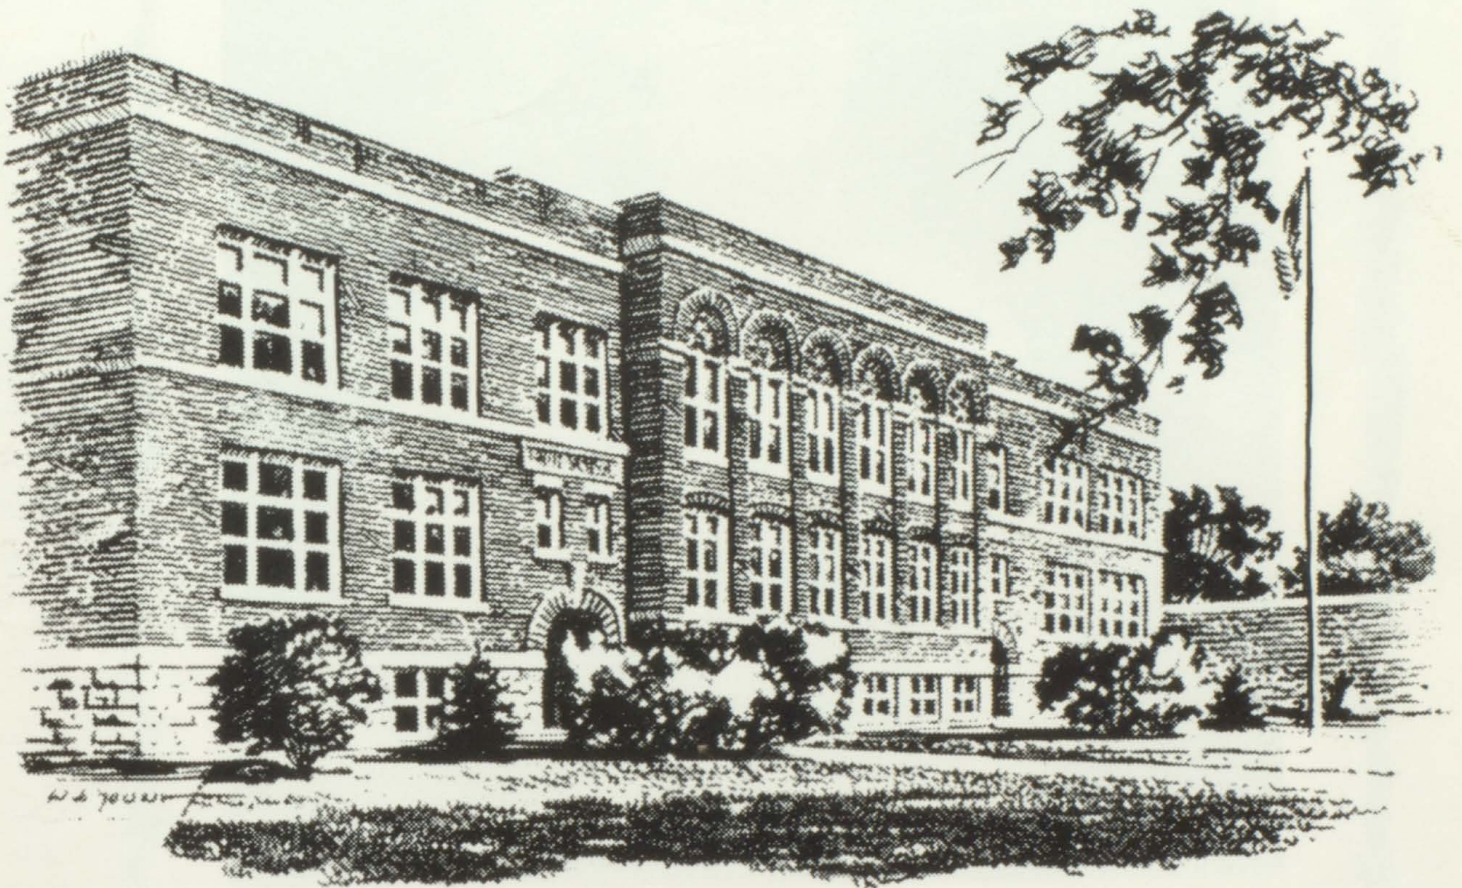

BEAVER

1969 BEAVER

Augusta High School

Augusta, Wisconsin

"'Twas her thinking of others which made us think of her."

MRS. YVONNE SILVERNAIL

A high school is no more than the sum of its faculty. The teachers exhibit professional competence and scholarly achievement mixed with a large measure of that vital ingredient - concern for his students.

Each year the annual staff members choose one person to dedicate their annual to. The members of the "1969 Beaver" feel that Mrs. Silvernail deserves special recognition for her service and helpfulness. She has that very vital ingredient - concern for her students.

Mrs. Silvernail teaches high school English and spends much of her time as advisor to the Seniors. Without her assistance we would be swamped!

It is with much pride and pleasure that we dedicate our annual to Mrs. Silvernail.

Foreword

"Education is a companion which no misfortune can decrease, no crime destroy, no enemy alienate, no despotism enslave, at home a friend, abroad an introduction, in solitude a solace, in society an ornament. It chastens vice, guides virtue, and gives grace and government to genius. Education may cost financial sacrifice, and mental pain, but in both money and life values it will repay every cost one hundred fold."

A student's year is a fleeting succession of images, an assemblage of scenes one after another. The classroom scenes, teachers, sports, organizations and special events all add up to create a pattern of memories. We hope our yearbook, "a portrait of 1968-1969," will bring back the events of the past school year, and in years to come it will remain as a precious book of wonderful memories.

We've had our fun, and now we look forward to a future which lies beyond the halls of A.H.S.

Junior Class '71

The Juniors, this year were allowed to pick two different types of rings, and also they were allowed to get stones in their rings.

Looking forward to their third year of high school, the juniors start by selecting their class rings and participating in homecoming. The big event of the year, of course, is the spring prom.

Our staff is lively and full of life?!
Seriously, we feel that we have worked hard to make this annual and hope that everyone appreciates it. You can't begin to imagine how much work there is involved in a process like this. Our deepest thanks go to Mrs. Buchholz for all the work that she put in it and the trouble she went to to get us to learn.

The Student Council sets up many activities for the benefit of the students. Some of them are: Intramural volleyball and basketball, a spring movie, and concessions for basketball and football games. The largest and most important thing that the Student Council has done this year is in the revision of the dress code and rewriting the Student Handbook. The Student Council is grateful for all the help and encouragement they get from the Student Body.
